Subject: Accessing Early Childhood Supports Through Your Child's NDIS Plan

Dear Families,

We understand that your child currently has an approved NDIS plan under Early Childhood Supports. We would like to introduce our service and support you in making the most of the opportunities available through your child's plan.

Trauma Education and Behaviour Consultancy is a registered NDIS provider (ABN: 57 492 928 670 | Provider Number: 4-L28RBN2) specialising in early intervention, trauma-informed care, and behavioural support for children aged 0–6 years. Our services are designed to empower families and build the capacity of children with developmental delay or disability to participate meaningfully in everyday life.

How We Can Support You

As your child has already been identified as eligible for Early Childhood Supports, you may use your plan to access services including:

- Behaviour support and functional assessments
- Trauma-informed education and care planning
- Support for emotional regulation and sensory needs
- Collaboration with your child's educators and health professionals
- Parent coaching and skill development
- Early intervention strategies tailored to your child's goals

We work closely with families, early childhood settings and allied health to ensure that supports are aligned with your NDIS goals and delivered in a way that is flexible, evidence-informed, and respectful of your child's needs.

Next Steps

If you would like to begin services with Trauma Education and Behaviour Consultancy or discuss how we can assist with your existing plan, please contact us. We will guide you through the onboarding process, review your child's plan with you, and work together to set achievable goals.

We're committed to walking alongside families, offering support that is practical, kind, and focused on long-term positive outcomes for children.

Warm regards,

Sally McPherson
